

Molly O'Reilly

Molly O'Reilly was a young brave woman. She was chosen by James Connolly to raise the Green Harp Flag of Ireland over Liberty Hall. Molly first went to Liberty Hall to learn Irish Dancing. She heard Connolly speak and was inspired. During the Lock Out in 1913, she carried messages to the strikers from Connolly. After the Howth Gunrunning, she bravely hid under her bed some of the smuggled weapons. During the Rising, Molly served with the City Hall Garrison. She was a courier sending messages between City Hall and the GPO. Her activities were unknown to her father who was a supporter of the crown. The Ladies Ancient Order of Hibernians honor Molly in the Commemorative Pin.
